ANTI-TIGER TALK.

Resolutions Adopted by the Citizens Of Hartford Against Liquor Selling Here.

At a recent public meeting of the citizens of Hartford, held in the Circuit Court room, to take action against the sale of liquor in our midst, the following resolutions were adopted as expressing the sense of the meeting, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The people of Ohio county have by a fair vote and a decisive majority decided that the sale of intoxicating liquors is an evil and is hurtful to the citizen and to the body politic and that the sale thereof should be by law prohibited, and

WHEREAS, The people of the town of Hartford, the county seat and chief town of this county, have by a free and fair vote, fairly and honestly taken and contested, decided that intoxicating liquors should not be sold in this town, and when this vote has been successfully contested in the courts of the State have again by a free and fair election recorded the same decision and have followed this decision by a long legal battle in the courts of the State, wherein this decision has been upheld by the law of the land and by the judgment of the courts, and

WHEREAS, The people of Hartford, with but few exceptions, are law-abiding people and desire to give no offense to the good citizens of this county whose business or pleasure brings them here, by setting at naught the thus recorded will of the majority and at defiance those high obligations which rest alike upon every citizen of the town and county to uphold and respect and obey the law, and

WHEREAS, It is the desire of the honorable people of Hartford, for the protection of the peace and good order of society as well as to guard their own homes against evil, to give hearty and organized support to those in authority who are charged with the high duties of seeing that the laws are obeyed and enforced, and to aid whenever and wherever possible in the suppression of lawlessness and crime, and

WHEREAS, It is being openly charged that there are some lawless characters here who defiantly trample law and order under their feet for the ill-gotten gains which they hope to reap, and who thus proclaim that they will not obey the mandate of this free people, fairly expressed at the polls, now therefore, be it

Resolved, First, That the good citizenship of Hartford will not permit these lawless persons to insult and offend the good citizens of Ohio county whose county—town this is, by defying the law against the sale of intoxicating liquors or by disregarding the peoples' records will in any other particular.

Second, We pledge ourselves to use all honorable means to bring to justice and to punish in the courts of law, all those who seek to violate the recorded will of the people of this town prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors.

Third, We pledge to the officers of the law, to the County Judge and to the County Attorney and to the Circuit Judge and the Commonwealth's Attorney of this District the hearty assistance and support of the law-abiding element of Hartford in an honest effort to obtain a just and adequate enforcement of the law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors here, and we respectfully ask for the violation of this law be fled away or stricken from the docket until a fair and speedy trial of the offender has been had before a jury of this county whose upright and fearless judgment we are willing to entrust the rights of this community in this particular.

Fourth, In an effort to bring about the purpose of this meeting and organization as expressed in these resolutions, we earnestly ask the aid and support of every citizen of this county who believes in the maintenance of the right of a community to govern itself by the expressed will of the majority of its citizens, and the protection of society from that class of criminals who gain are willing to violate the law, just as the Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also a convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and sweating pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention taking this generous offer in this paper.

same criminals would for sufficient gain disregard any other of the laws which guard and protect the life, liberty and property of the citizen and would violate the firesides whose only safety and protection in a land like this is the rigid enforcement of the law, which in this matter, as in all others, is the fairly expressed and duly recorded will of the majority.

Fifth, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to each of the county papers with the request that they publish them and a copy thereof be presented to each of the following officers, to-wit: Hon. W. T. Owen, Circuit Judge; Hon. J. E. Rowe, Commonwealth's Attorney; J. P. Miller, County Judge and Hon. M. L. Heavrin, County Attorney.

Where Prayers Never Cease.

There is one spot in the United States where the voice of prayer is never still. For more than 20 months the "turret of prayer" that surrounds the "Temple of Truth," near Lisbon Falls, Me., has never for an instant been without the sound of a human voice in supplication. It is the intention of the people who attend to this remarkable form of worship, that prayer in the turret shall never cease so long as the building shall stand.

The author of this custom is the Rev. Frank W. Sandford, leader of the "Holy Ghost and Us Society." The society affiliates with no denomination and tries to conform strictly to the teaching of the Bible. Starting without a penny, it has in a few years achieved such success that it has built four buildings, the "Temple of Truth" among them, which forms a rectangle capable of seating 20,000 persons.

The life here is quite in the spirit of a religious revival. Conversions are made, and the sick healed by prayer every day in the year. The students of religion who make their home here take turns at sustaining the never-ending prayer in the great turret.

On the roof of the temple are 12 other little turrets, in each of which, when the number of students becomes large enough to admit of it, prayer will be kept up continually. The idea is that each turret shall represent one of the 12 tribes of Israel.

The largest turret of all is called, the Rev. Mr. Sandford said, the "Power Turret." Nobody will pray in it but men; but men, it will be a place for warriors to prevail with God.

"I believe it won't be long before every room here will be occupied by two students; there will be from 1000 to 1200 gathered in these halls to read the entire Word of God and go out to practice it," said Mr. Sandford.

His Wife Saved Him.

My wife's good advice saved my life, writes F. M. Ross, of Winfield, Tenn., for I had such a bad cough I could hardly breathe. I steadily grew worse under doctor treatment, but my wife urged me to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, La Grippe, Pneumonia, Asthma, Hay Fever and all maladies of Chest, Throat and Lungs are positively cured by this marvelous medicine. 50c. and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at J. H. Williams' drug store.

A Good Plain Cake.

Cream together one-half cup butter and one cup sugar, add a scant teaspoonful of vanilla, the beaten yolks of two eggs and a pinch of salt. Stir in alternately half a cup of milk and two scant cups of flour. Beat vigorously for five minutes, add the whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth, a teaspoonful of baking powder and beat a minute longer. This recipe may be varied in several ways. Half a cup of chopped raisins well floured makes one charge. One portion may be colored by mixing a heaped tablespoonful of cocoa dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of hot water, and by putting it with the uncolored will make marble cake. Twice the amount of cocoa to all the batter will give chocolate loaf.

Chapped hands, cracked lips and roughness of the skin cured quickly by Bannan Salve, most healing ointment in the world. For sale by J. H. Williams, Hartford; S. L. Mitchell & Bro., Beaver Dam; M. S. Ragland, Rosine.

A Cold Winter.

This time forty-four years ago the Ohio river was frozen over and remained so until the night of February 22, 1856. The winter 1855-56 was the longest and most severe winter in memory of the old inhabitants. The river was not bridged as it is now, and it was an every day sight to see four-horse teams crossing over at Cincinnati on the ice. The weather was below zero most of the time, and the winter was of unparalleled severity and hardship. As compared with it, the weather we are now having is but as a "sunny, showery day in April."

MCKINLEY'S RECORD.

How He Had Stood on the Financial Question at One Time And Another.

(New York Verdict.)

On the 5th of November, 1877, Mr. Bland, of Missouri, moved in the House of Representatives to suspend the rules and pass a bill to authorize the free coinage of the standard silver dollar. On the call of the roll, Mr. McKinley voted. In 1878, the Bland bill was amended in the Senate under the lead of Mr. Allison, so as to provide for the coinage of not less than $1,000,000 nor more than $4,000,000 worth of silver bullion a month into standard dollars, and in that form passed the House. President Hayes vetoed the bill on the 28th of February, and on the question of re-passing the bill over the veto, Mr. Kinley voted yes.

President Cleveland recommended that Congress should repeal the Bland-Alison act, and at the Republican National Convention, in 1888, McKinley, chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, reported a platform which declared that the Republican party is in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money, and condemns the policy of the Democratic Administration in its efforts to demonetize silver.

In 1890, McKinley was chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and leader of the House in the Fifty-first Congress, and earnestly advocated the passage of the silver-purchase act of 1890 as better than the Bland-Alison act, and the very next best thing to free coinage. "We cannot," he declared, "have free coinage now, except in the manner provided in the bill. To defeat this bill means to defeat all silver legislation, and to leave us with two millions a month only, when, by passing this bill, we should have four and a half millions a month of Treasury notes as good as gold in circulation for the largest use of silver in the currency of our country. I would not do honor to it; I would give it equal credit and honor with gold; I would make no discrimination; I would utilize both metals as money and discredit neither. I want the double standard."

In 1896, he stood upon that curious philosophical contrivance of Hanna's known as the Ohio platform, which declared for gold and silver and paper (and meant nothing), in these words: "We contend for honest money, for a currency of gold, silver and paper with which to measure our exchanges, that shall be as sound as the Government and as unimpaired as its honor; and to that end we favor bimetalism, and demand the use of both gold and silver as standard money, either in accordance with a ratio to be fixed by an international agreement if that can be obtained, or under such restrictions and such provisions, to be determined by legislation, as will secure the maintenance of the parity of value of the two metals, so that the purchasing and debt-paying power of the dollar, whether of silver, gold or paper, shall be at all times equal." And, finally, upon the 5th of December, 1896, the grab emerged a gorgeously yellow butterfly! It may be said, "I believe it was a butterfly, even if it was a snake, to the friends of silver to know finally where he is at, anyway."

J. A. Lambert, of Rachel, N. C., writes: "I heartily endorse Foley's Kidney Cure. It does what my kidney will do, and there is nothing equal to it, and I thank you for the good it has done me. For sale by J. H. Williams, Hartford; S. L. Mitchell & Bro., Beaver Dam; M. S. Ragland, Rosine."

Fields for the Pathfinder.

(Denver Post.)

It has frequently been claimed that after the exploration of Africa there was no more of the world that could be called unexplored. To be sure there are no more new continents awaiting exploration, and there are no islands to be discovered and explored, and if we except the poles there is nothing left worth looking after.

But there are regions in the known and inhabited parts of the world as unknown to-day as they were when those continents first figured on the map; as unknown as the Rocky mountain country was when Pike first came here or when Lewis and Clark made their way through it to the Pacific.

Mrs. Bradish, of Detroit, Wrote Mrs. Pinkham and Tells the Result.

(LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM, NO. 25,310.)

"About two years ago I began to run down and soon became almost a wreck. I lost my appetite and began to lose flesh; my blood was impoverished and I had to leave our store."

"The doctors gave me a little tonic, but I steadily grew worse and consulted another doctor. He helped me in some ways, but my headaches continued, and I began to have night sweats and my rest was so disturbed that I would have hysteria and would cry and worry over business matters and my poor health."

"Finally, Hubbard took me South, but with no benefit. This was a year ago; no one can ever know what a winter of misery I spent. Would blood after eating and was troubled with palpitation of heart and whites. Having read by happy chance of your medicine, I bought it and wrote for your advice, and before having finished the first bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the hysterics nearly stopped and I slept soundly."

"I used seven or eight bottles with such benefit that I am as healthy as I can ever remember of being. I shall never cease to sound your praises."—Mrs. E. M. BRADISH, 179 Dix Ave., DETROIT, MICH.

ic. Although we have been in possession of Alaska now for a generation, no one will claim that it has ever been thoroughly explored.

Australia's interior awaits exploration yet, although it has been crossed, and there are vast regions in Asia of which nothing definite is known. In Africa's interior no explorer has yet set foot, and what is known is mostly derived from mere hearsay. There are vast unknown regions in China and there is Tibet still awaiting exploration. It will take a good part of the century about to commence to acquire an accurate knowledge of all these parts of the globe we know are there, but of whose conditions we remain in ignorance.

Slavery of the Company Store.

(Washington Times.)

Complaint is made by the coal miners in certain Pennsylvania towns that they are being reduced to a species of slavery by means of the institution known as the "company store." They say that the company compels them to buy groceries, clothing, bread and medicine from its own agents, and that the articles sold are of inferior quality and the prices exorbitant. The wagons of outside stores are not allowed to enter the village and a purchase of any article from outside dealers means discharge from the detected buyer. The miners are even obliged to depend in illness upon a "company doctor," and as for their votes, it is not necessary to explain where these must go.

The "company store" is an illustration that it is unsafe to intrust any man or party of men with absolute power. In the beginning this institution was due to the perception of the fact that the company could buy goods in large quantities and sell them to employees cheaper than outsiders could do it. Thus competitors were undersold and driven out, and the agents conceived the idea of making the miners pay the same price they would have to pay outsiders, and pocketed the little percentage which must go to any middle-man. Then they took to selling inferior goods for exorbitant prices, and, of course, that resulted in discontent, and the miners had to be forbidden to buy of other merchants. So greed calls in Tyranny to protect the operations of cunning. This sequence of things is as logical as the rule of three, and it always ends in disaster.

Forgot to Go to Work.

(New York Telegram to Philadelphia Record.)

Mr. Thomas Casey, of 548 First avenue, who went to Bellevue, the physician says has a queer case. For four months past he has been afflicted with absent-mindedness. He would start out in the morning perfectly well physically, meaning to go right to his work, yet would forget all about it. He was just as apt to end up on a doorstep absorbed in a newspaper, all thoughts of work having vanished. When he sat down to his meals he forgot all about them and began undressing under the impressions it was bedtime. If he took a bath he started to drink the water, forgetting all about his bath.

A Wise Precaution.

(Collier's Weekly.)

Husband: My dear, I want to ask you one favor before you go off on that long visit.

Wife: A thousand my love. What is it?

Husband: Don't try to put the house in order before you leave.

Wife: I can't stand work.

Husband: Perhaps not, but think of the expense of telegraphing to you every time I want to find anything.

Its Strength Had Been Demonstrated.

(Chicago Post.)

"Willie!" exclaimed his mother, reprovingly, "don't jump up and down in that chair. You'll break it."

"Pooh!" returned the boy, scornfully. "I guess you don't know how strong that chair is. Just ask Sister Emily."

"Willie!" That was all that Sister Emily said, but he knew she was good for a quarter if he let the subject drop.

Old People Made Young.

J. C. Sherman, the veteran editor of the Vermont (Mich.) Echo, has discovered the remarkable secret of keeping old people young. For years he has avoided Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Indigestion, Heart trouble, Constipation and Rheumatism, by using Electric Bitters, and he writes: It can't be praised too highly. It gently stimulates the kidneys, tones the stomach, aids digestion, and gives a splendid appetite. It has worked wonders for my wife and me. It's a marvelous remedy for old people's complaints. THE WEATHER FOR 1900.

Storms and Floods Will Mark The Year—Reliable Forecasts By Prof. Marsh.

The following weather report for 1900 by W. W. Marsh, the famous Winton Place prognosticator, will be read with interest. It will be remembered that Mr. Marsh scheduled all the featured happenings of December, comprising the cold weather, the storms on the lakes and the terrible California earthquake.

The year 1900 will be known as one of the greatest storm and flood years on record. The precipitation during the year will be the heaviest recorded in the history of the country for any one year, causing disastrous floods, being most severe throughout Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and in the low lands of Mississippi. The floods will occur during the latter part of February or the fore part of March, continuing during March. January, February and March will be severe storm months, and from January to March, blizzards and heavy snowstorms will prevail from Colorado to Illinois and the lakes, with attendant blockades.

STORMS ON ATLANTIC.

The Eastern and New England States will be visited by heavy sleet and snowstorms during January and February, causing blockades and delay of traffic.

The snow fall will be very heavy through the States of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Maine, Pennsylvania, and through the Pennsylvania mountains. Extremely heavy at head waters of the Ohio river, through the Kanawha, New Cumberland and Monongahela and Allegheny valleys. Extremely heavy rains and snow will fall through the Southern States and Texas, causing floods through these States. The Western, Northern and Northwestern States will experience heavy blizzards and severe snowstorms, causing these States to be snow-bound.

The spring will be an early one, and the summer hot and sultry; the hot weather beginning the latter part of June, continuing until the latter part of September. Extreme hot waves will prevail during July and August, with terrific cyclones and tornadoes in the West and Northwest, with hurricanes and severe storms on the Atlantic Ocean, the coasts, Great Lakes, Gulf of Mexico and the Gulf States. October and November will be cold, wintry months, and December a cold, stormy month, with plenty of ice and snow.

OUTLOOK FOR JANUARY.

The month of January, 1900, will be one of the greatest storm months of the year. The precipitation will be extremely heavy, consisting principally of snow and sleet. There will be very little rainfall. Extreme cold from 15th to 25th. In all probability the Ohio river will be closed from January until latter part of February.

Discouraging.

"What makes you think she doesn't love you?"

"I've been taking my meals there every Sunday for the past six months and she still asks me how I take my tea."

General Lawton and Senora Aguilard.

(St. Louis Post Dispatch.)

It is difficult to believe that any woman can read of Senora Aguilard's death without indignation, or that any man can think of it without shame.

The Filipino patriot's wife accompanied her husband on his campaigns, cheering him by her presence and encouraging him. Chased from pillar to post by the American troops, through jungles and swamps, given no rest day or night, dwelling in the midst of perpetual alarms, it is no wonder the poor woman followed her dead baby to the world where syndicate government does not flourish.

Can we afford to pay the price? Shall we deliberately lower the moral tone of the nation, pervert the public mind and breed a joy in death like that of which we accused the Spaniards—all for a distant island where a few greedy persons can make money?

Gen. Lawton and Senora Aguilard died almost at the same moment. In the conjunction is summed the hideous wickedness of this inhuman war.

Having a Great Run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Manager Martin, of the Pierson drug store, informs us that he is having a great run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sells five bottles of that medicine to one of any other kind, and it gives great satisfaction. In these days of la grippe there is nothing like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to stop the cough, heal up the sore throat and lungs and give relief within a very short time. Problem for Future Historians.

(Los Angeles Herald.)

When, 100 years hence, some historian comes to write up the transactions of the nineteenth century, he will have to say that the great Republic in 1898 and 1899 waged a vigorous war against the inhabitants of the Philippine islands, but he will certainly be puzzled to know what the war was about. The historian will also record that simultaneously with that war, a peace conference of the civilized nations had convened and was sitting at The Hague in Holland, and when he comes to record that the great Republic, by its able delegates, was taking a leading part in that peace conference, he will be more puzzled than ever to know what mighty provocation could have incited the great Republic to that unpopularity.

And the historian will be forced to the conclusion that no cause for it existed; that no portion of the people of the great Republic, not even a small minority of them, called for that war; that it was simply and solely a presidential war, begun and carried on for political party ends and to force upon the people a continuation in power of the party whose President precipitated the strife. It will be recorded that the war was kept going during the approaching presidential contest in order that the politicians in power might appeal to the common people to stand by the government—meaning their administration—in time of a foreign war.

Women's Complexions depend for beauty upon digestion. Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine regulates the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys and secures the blessings of good Digestion. For sale by J. H. Williams, Hartford, Ky.

Through the data collected by the office of the Road Inquiry, Washington, D. C., it has been ascertained that the average cost of hauling by team over country roads of the United States is 25 cents per ton per mile. For the same cost a ton can be carried 200 miles by water and fifty miles by rail. It costs the American farmer three times as much to haul his produce as it does the European farmer, because of the poor roads in this country. The drain upon the agricultural energies of the country will continue until the present annual surface treatment is supplanted by a system of fundamental and permanent construction.

Physicians as a class are opposed to what they call "patent medicines." It is not often they openly endorse them. Now and then, however, some physician, who has been the witness of a remarkable cure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Remedies, feels a duty to tell what he knows.

Dr. Joseph Fike, of Lost River, Idaho, writes: "I am using a good many of your medicines in my practice. For years ago I had a patient who was badly afflicted with rheumatism and sciatica. I used your medicine and he was cured. I felt confident that my remedies would benefit her. It came to my mind that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was recommended in such cases, so I went to the drug store and bought one bottle and gave it to her to use as directed. Five bottles cured her, and she is well to-day."

For more than thirty years Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has enjoyed a far larger practice than many physicians who charge large fees for advice. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made without alcohol, and is a preparation based upon his extensive experience with disease. It is a temperance medicine, pure and simple, and without alcohol, whiskey, sugar or syrup to preserve its properties, keeps perfectly in any climate for any length of time. Others may imitate the remedy; they cannot imitate its cures. Let no one talk you into using an imitation medicine as a substitute for Dr. Pierce's. Sick people who cannot visit Buffalo may consult Dr. Pierce by mail. He gives free, fatherly advice for treating and curing diseases of a chronic, obstinate and lingering nature. No charge is made for such consultation.
